“ I never knew you personally. I was in your grade when you died. Mrs. Smith was my homeroom class. I remember talking about you after you died. No one knew who you were. I'm sad about that. I remembered you today and felt horrible. I hope you rest well, despite never knowing who you were, and what you liked. I wish your family the best.

“ My heart strings have been pulled and aches for this family dearly, I don't know this family but I live in the valley and my heart falls to my bottom when I pass the elementry school and tears roll down my face, I can't imagine what this family is going through and the emotions that their souls feels... I know you guys are prob sick of your surroundings burying you with such kinds prayers and the communitie talking about this loss,as if it isn't a shock enough I feel your family's pain and I am praying for the loss of this child and the mom and dad especially of this child.. As your child flies high and pain free may you not blame yourselves God works in mysterious ways and only he knows why he decided to bring him home so soon
