“ Mr. Joe always had a smile to show, and a warm welcoming when I came for a visit. I starting cleaning his and Ms. Melva home over 4 years ago. I enjoyed hearing the two of them picking at each other and carrying on. They were truly love birds. Mr. Joe was a honorable man. He loved his family and was always doing what he could to help them. He also cared about his neighbors and our community. I enjoyed listen to his story's about his childhood and his adulthood. Four weeks ago when I was there, he told me he had lived his life serving the Lord, and he was ready to go home. I told him, ah Mr Joe you'll be out mowing the yard and cutting hay tomorrow. He said probably so, but I'm still ready to go home. When I left, I said see ya next month, he said maybe not. I'm really gonna miss Mr Joe and his greetings... hey there Sissy. Prayers for the girls, and grands. Love you all.

“ Uncle Quentin was one of the finest men that I have ever known. He sure did know how to joke and laugh. He loved his wife, my Aunt Melva, and his entire family. Above all, he was a truly dedicated Christian! I look forward to seeing him in heaven.

“ Sharon, Debbie and all grandchildren, Quentin and Melva were the best neighbors this “city” girl could have. From cutting our hay field for years to pulling the truck out of a “burn pit” then telling Steve not to fuss at me after I retired.

He always had time to stop the tractor and catch me up on all the local news.

Melva was a jewel. She organized neighbor ladies to come sit with Steve’s mom so I could work when his dad was sick.

Steve enjoyed spending time with them while remodeling their kitchen.

I know that the reunion included singing and shouting.

Thinking of all of you!!
