“ I briefly worked with Bobby a couple of years ago and knew him for just a short period of time. It was after his hip surgery and he was trying to reestablish himself. He loved those boys of his more than anything and they kept him going everyday. It pained me to watch him over the last couple of years and that I was not the friend that maybe I should have been but I do know that he got up and kept going no matter what brought him down. I don't know the demons he carried or the life he lived but I do know he never gave up. May his sons live to be as strong as their father and our heavenly father embrace them during the days to come. My deepest sympathy goes out to those that nurtured him like family and the ones that mourn his loss. I do hope that this experience will help teach us all how short life is and it is not for us to judge or be judged but to love and allow others to love. My prayers to you all...
