“ Brenda was my oldest friend. She taught me so much about life, love and friendship. Although we had lost touch for a time, when we re-connected it was as if no time had passed at all. We picked right back up talking, laughing and reminiscing. We had just made plans to have lunch together, my Mom and I both were so excited to see her again. My heart is broken and aches for her family. Every time we talked, she would tell me about her beautiful girls and how much she loved them and her grand babies. She was very proud. The last time we talked on the phone, she told me how lucky she was to have Robert. She loved her family very much. Brenda is still teaching me, this week I learned not to let any time go by without re-connecting with those you love and care about. She wont make our lunch date this week, but instead she'll be having lunch with Jesus, and how wonderful is that! God Bless Brenda's family, my heart, soul and prayers are with you all!

“ I would like to share a memory of mine and Brenda's that probably no one knows. When Mr. Graham passed away I was having surgery, Brenda came to the hospital and set by my side as if nothing was wrong because the doctors said that I was not to be upset. When I realized what she had done for me when her heart had to broken into, I knew then that I had a true friend in this special person. She was the strongest person I know and the best friend I've ever known. Though I tried I could never pay forward what she done for me that day. I will always treasure our friendship and forever long to hear those famous words..... "Hey You!"

“ With so many family member scattered around the area, time and distance is a hard reality. but, we knew growing up that we were all blessed to have so many cousins to play with. at Granny and Papa Graham's. No matter how long and how far apart we've found ourselves ended up, a cousin's love is constant. I'll be seeing you again and this time, no more time and distance will keep us all apart. I love you cuz, Debbie

“ My last memory of you was when I visited last summer and we were at Aunt Jean's. You hugged me so tight till I could barely breath and said" I have missed you so much' . Like everyone else says, you had the most beautiful smile. You smiled with your eyes as well. Every time I look at my youngest granddaughter Tinaya , I think of you. Since she was born she reminded me of you when you were little. You will forever be in my heart and memory. Tell everyone hello for me.. I love you so much..

“ It was a shock to hear of Brenda's passing. The last thing I said to her was that she had not changed a bit since high school. She just laughed and said that she had. She still had that same beautiful smile. I am so very sorry for the families loss. I pray that each and every one will be given strength during this very difficult time. You will be missed Brenda. “ I have so many memories of Brenda, I cannot just chose one. But I can say that she brought more laughter and joy into my life than anyone. I know a lot of people have many best friends but I have only one.
Brenda and I have been together since the 2nd grade, life has taken different places and different routes and yet we always found our way back to each other.
Our bond is strong, and I know we will find each other again.
I love you Brenda forever and always
