“ Uncle Darrell lived through the holler and over the hill from our house. I often saw him throughout my childhood and youth. Always smiling and kind and so sweet. He was sincere about caring for his extended family. He loved to tell me funny things like stories and jokes and remind me to appreciate the advice of my parents. He respected what my mom, his sister, and dad were trying to do, raise 6 kids to be great adults. He would take time to ask me about my life and we would talk and when it was all done I felt a greater sense of self-worth. He talked me through all my horses, dogs, boyfriends, and years and years of going to school. He was a man who knew great pain and yet he tried to hold on to his belief in God. He showed forth a great example of repentance and humility. I am a better person for knowing this, my precious Uncle. So happy for him and his Jane that they are now together forever. May we all follow suit. Wow, we are a great family! Still your little buddy, Jane
