“ Oh Ms. Jones, how we loved you. She was a fixture at the original Battlefield Farmers Market, I believe for 14 years or so. She was best known for her 3 famous baked goods...Zucchini bread, Banana bread, and Chewy bread. If you were lucky enough to try her grandmothers squash pie recipe, you were extra special to her. She was in her 80s y'all! She was a substitute teacher by morning, baker by night, and would pull double headers of teaching and then market. Her hands nor mind were ever idle. She was very sharp and quick witted. She lived purposely, honestly and directly. Simply put, she amazed me. She was also an original vendor at the LaFayette Farmers Market's inaugural year last year and shared a tent with our farm and market table. We got closer. The last market of the 2023 season, I backed her vehicle for her as I did for years (let's just say parking wasn't her strong suit lol 😊) and I blew her a kiss. She blew one back. That was my last time with Ms. Jones. I couldn't have had a better last memory of her. Next Saturday's Market, we will have a tent in her honor.

“ I have know Mrs Delores from the times she substituted at our schools. Beyond the classroom, I've known her and her daughter through church since I was younger. Recently, at untethered ladies night I reunited with them while playing bingo and sharing laughs. Mrs Delores was always a wonderful sub,loved by ever kid she come acrossed. Though she will be missed dearly, I find comfort knowing we'll all meet again someday.
