Dancing with the angels now. Rejoice for he has called your name home. You left and their hearts was broken but now you are there angel watching them and keeping them safe.

What a lady! She led a servant life. I honestly don't think she ever put her needs above any one else's. Her hearts desire was that her son, grandchildren, and great grandchildren not only come to the Lord, to be a family in eternity, but also to do their best here on Earth to be able to pass forward blessings onto their families. Take care of each other loved ones, work hard, be honest and faithful to God and each other and make Eleanor proud. She loved you all so.
