“ I did not know Mr. Plemons well, but his daughter, Imogene, has been close to my family and me for many years. She was my mother's best friend and helped us take care of her during the later portion of mother's life. I remember taking Mr. Plemons dark chocolate almond joys (no almonds), and he was playing Bingo, his favorite past time. He wanted both the candy and to play Bingo, but chose Bingo over the candy. I took the candy to his room. He was a kind, gentle man who raised a really wonderful caring daughter. May God bless his family; he was a member of the "greatest generation".
