“ I met Steve 38 years ago, when I first came to Ringgold. He spent hours showing me homes when I was looking for a place to live. We became fast friends, then worked together for a number of years. Steve was always willing to help with any thing, was totally selfless, and always helpful and hopeful. He was a true friend, a lot of fun, and inspired those around him to be and do their best. He will be sorely missed by his family and friends. I was a friend, but felt more like a brother, because he treated me like one. I will miss him terribly, but am so thankful for all the years I was proud to call him friend.
