“ Jim, you were the best brother-in-law ever. You were always the first one to lend a hand to anyone- friend, family or stranger. A simple man, you never asked for much but gave plenty. You were “all things good” and will be missed. We love you Jim.

“ When I struggled to get up for church on Sunday mornings, it was you who dragged me outta bed. When I was ready to buy a car, it was you who guided me through that process. When I moved into my own place, it was you who loaded & unloaded all of my stuff (multiple times). When I was hundreds of miles away & wanted to come home, it was you who came to my rescue. When I woke up in the middle of the night thinking that I was just habing some back pain, it was you who insisted that I was in labor & rushed me to the hospital. When I was stuck in the snow & scared on the side on the road, it was you who risked your own safety to make sure I was okay. When I was ready to walk down the aisle, it was you who gave me away. When I needed help with my kids, it was you who extended to them the same love you'd always shown me. When I wanted somebody to talk football with, it was you who was my favorite fellow Vol for life. I love you now & always Uncle Jim ❤️
