“ I miss you. Thank you for being my friend. You were always kind to me and put other people before yourself. I want to correct every grammatical error that has been placed here by others :)

It's still not real to me. If only "RIP" stood for "return if possible".

Love.

“ I went to school with Jayson in middle school and high school. I have thought of him often over the years, wondering where life had taken him. We spent a lot of time together making mischief in our Art and Photography classes. He was a great partner in crime and a great friend! It is true, as others have mentioned, that he could make anyone laugh. He had the special gift of making everyone around him feel special and loved. The world seems much sadder since his passing. You will be greatly missed by all the people who had the honor of knowing you.

“ I will always remember our times hanging out.I got to know Jayson better after high school,we worked at the same restaurant for some time. I really got to see his true self and how funny he was.Thank you for teaching me How to play chess along with giving a lyric sheet to every Tool song before they had "lyric sheets". I lost touch over the years with you,not sure what battles you had or what you did daily except when you worked at the haunted caverns.I miss you and hope you have found peace with your life journey. You will be missed and forever leave a mark of your presence in my life.

“ Jayson was a great friend, and will be deeply missed. I was always envious of his creativity and ability to appreciate everyone for who they were. Jayson and I have the same birthday 10-23-1977, and we always used to joke around about it. He was one of the true good guys...the world will be a darker place without him. We can only be thankful for having him here the brief time that we did.

“ I miss working with Jayson or Sir Wipes a Lot as Tharpe called him. We used to laugh when Richard would walk by and put a macaroni noodle on Jaysons clean counter. He was always fun to work with and loved to talk video games and geek movies with me. He will be missed.

“ Jayson was more than just a friend to me, he was a brother. I always loved talking to him because he always knew how to make me smile with his witty sense of humor. Our similar taste in music, movies, and video games were what brought us closer and I am so grateful to have been able to know him and to be his friend. He was such a wonderful person to know and I will miss him greatly. Rest easy, brother.

“ I will miss you Jayson. You were never annoying like Mike's other friends. There will never be anyone as kind, considerate, quick witted, or creative as you. I watched you grow up and I'm grateful to know you. I love you.

“ I remember when we first met. Jayson was drawing a ninja turtle (Donatello) and I said that I liked the ninja turtles, too. A week later and Jayson was at my house playing video games. Jayson had great comedic timing and he usually did it with a straight face. Jayson was also very bright and kind. I remember when he fixed a ladies' car using the spring from a ball point pen, just like he had seen from an episode of MacGuyver. Jayson, you will always be the Donatello to my Leonardo! I love you .

“ I will never forget you Jayson. You were the first friend I made when I transferred to LFO. You were always at my house, breaking stuff, and making me laugh. I wish I could've said goodbye, but I guess this will have to do. I still owe you a beef stew. See you on the other side, buddy.

“ Where do I start? What could I say that isn't cliché? I have very diverse group of friends and jayson, you played an integral part of that group. Your uniqueness sets you apart as irreplaceable. So what now? No more deep thought provoking conversations on our own theories of the cosmos, no more clever inside jokes that referenced mr. Show, friends, or TPB. No more late night, rock band jam sessions wishing they had ever tool song on there. No more best elmo voice ever. All these things are locked in the past now and in my memory. I wish that you would have let me have that talk with you, you know which one, maybe that day would have been brighter if you could have seen it the way I do. I love you man

“ To me, Jayson embodied the phrase, "brevity is the soul of wit."

He was an intelligent and creative guy that was never afraid to question the world around him. I will always remember our conversations about music and life. And, I am forever grateful for the insight into his mind that he shared.

My condolences to his family. I shall light a candle in his honor.

“ Jayson was such a witty, intelligent guy. I enjoyed reading his blogs/post in present day...he always presented well-thought arguments and topics.

One of my favorite memories of him is dressing up in drag for Opposite Sex Day in High School. He and Jeremiah Akers truly took the cake and made excellent women ;)

JJ will be missed immeasurably. My thoughts & prayers are with his children & family at this time.

“ Jason had a sense of humor that caught you by surprise sometimes, and I'll always remember that about him. Surprising, witty, off-the-cuff, and brilliant. He is sorely missed, and the good memories will not be forgotten.
