“ Jeff and I were both already married and living our own lives when we became step siblings and we didn't spend a lot of time together with the family but I do recall him always laughing and being really friendly to everyone. I know that he was always willing and ready to help Will with any yard work around the house. Rest in peace brother you will be missed.

Jeff and I shared many memorable moments... To choose one just isn't possible. But I can say, that his passing is deeply felt by me. It doesn't matter when people say that it's part of life. Doesn't make the pain any easier to process. Much love to the family and unceasing prayers for comfort and strength for each passing day.
