“ My Jeffy you were certainly a big part of my life growing up and once upon a time you were my roommate. I love you like family and wasn't long ago we talked on the phone and I enjoyed that and catching up with you. I'm so sorry you had to struggle these last few years the way you have. We have had many diabetes talks, I tried to give you the best advice. Diabetes is a horrible disease that takes so many far too soon. I guess I will go ahead and forgive you for jerking my pants down to my ankles while we were all just teenagers hanging out in my driveway. Boy did you ever get a good laugh out of that and I was fire hot mad lol! You was slick came up from behind and next thing I know my pants were around my ankles. You always were the jokester and always had a way of making us all laugh. I love you my Jeffy may you forever rest in sweet peace. When you see my sister I already know you'll give her the biggest hug, I'm sure she was waiting on you at the pearly gates. I'll see you again my friend.
