“ I wish I had known about his death. He was an animal lover. We had a cat named E.T. and John was the only one that E.T. Would go to and went in their house. In 1992 when we had the ice storm, he made sure we were all ok. They were prepared with cooking. I had just bought food and I was alone. So I dud a path and we cooked some steaks I had. It lasted for 5 days. He also took bantam chickens that were roaming the neighborhood and put them a shelter next to his house.

I remember him with fondness.

So sorry for your loss, Betty

“ We are so proud and humbled to have known such a wonderful and fascinating gentleman.

John, we will miss you, and especially your stories, which have always held us spellbound with their detail and historical facts about the North Georgia mountains we have come to adore.

Our thoughts and love are with you, Betty, and we share your grief at the loss of such a fine man and friend.

Please accept our deepest sympathy

With love
