“ I loved Joyce! I have done her hair for many years, she was not just a client she was a sweet friend. I will miss her weekly visits. She would always be so cheerful and sweet! She shared a lot with me over the years about how much she loves her family and had asked me to pray for them. I will honor her by continuing to pray for her family. She had also made friends with other weekly clients in the salon and if one was out sick she was always concerned about them! I look forward to seeing her again one day.

TO

Mom, as I sit here going through what you left behind for us (so much mail!), I am so delighted to find the cherished photos of your life with us. Did you make it an Easter egg hunt on purpose?! The memories remembered added joy to such a huge loss, made even harder by the fact that I didn't get to say goodbye. I wasn't by your side as you left this world, like I was with dad. I'm constantly reminded by how selfish it is for me to feel this way, but I also like to imagine that you might take comfort in such, and knowing that the baby you raised as your first, although not your own flesh and blood, loved you every bit as much as you did her. I will never forget our hugs & tears as you told me you could never leave my father because you couldn't take me! I hope you felt pride & joy when I met my birthmother, but refused to accept her into the place in my life where only you could be. And although you said I was your easiest child, I apologize for all the grief and challenges I gave you as a teenager! Hopefully I gave you the practice you needed for when brother came along!! I so appreciate the comfort I found after you left us when I stayed at your home. I could certainly feel you there, and I will try to keep that with me as we all try to carry on, on this earth without you. I'll miss you so much mom, but I look forward to seeing you with grandma & grandpa in heaven. Give them a kiss for me! I love you.

I can remember you standing in my Mom's driveway just out of the shower with my Son (I think) in your arms and he spit up right down the center of your breast. Night gown robe and all. LOL Not funny at the time but has been a memory I have remembered for years.... Go and be with God. Maybe you can see my Mom and Dad and say Hi!!!! Please hug them for me.... Rest well Pretty Lady....
