“ *There’s so much to say about my father. He was just, and kind. He was strong, and weak. He was loving and scary. He was talented and so very cool. A true rock star. He was always my hero growing up and he loved me and all his family with all his heart. He was so giving that he would give even ounce of himself to show you he loved you. He would give to the needy during holidays, and he even called me, a grown man baby. He was a sweet man and my heart is the way it is in a big way because of him. He said our family are descendants of angels and that he could sense things before they’d happen then he’d prove it. Being his son, I know it’s true. He will be sorely missed and his music and spirit is carried on inside of me. Cherish the ones you love, don’t let the spirit of kindness ever fade. Know my father was a great man, and despite any short comings, he showed his worth through his actions. I love you dad. Your son.

“ Kevin was my little brother Dane’s best friend growing up so he was at our house a lot. My mom, Dianne thought he was such a character as a little boy and even used him as a model for one of the kid characters in her book series, Amber Wellington Daredevil. I will always remember Kevin as a young athletic teenage baseball playing boy with the mischievous grin. Prayers and love to the family. Rest In Peace Kevin.

He is the love of my life. I will truly miss him, the love he showed me, he had such a caring heart, would give someone in need his last dollar, he put others before himself always, no matter what I had to say. Hearing him sing and play his music was impressing. He is now singing and playing in heaven. He had said what a blessing it would be to wake up in Heaven on Easter Sunday. He got to do just that. Thank you Jesus for the time I had with him. He will never be forgotten. With all my love. Sandy Keith
