“ King was a dear friend of mine. I enjoyed joining him and Barb here in the Portland area where we would dine together (pre-Covid) and go see musicals at the Broadway Rose Theatre. King was the most kind, true, honest, humble and caring guys I have ever known. He loved his wife Barb who was the light of his life, his kids, grandkids and wanted to be spend time w/his children and grandkids and enjoy them by moving to GA.

He painted the whole exterior of our house here, including our storage shed. He helped me put up peg board to hang my tools in the garage, helped me replace the outside lights, mounted a steer head above our fireplace and so much more. I see King's handy work every day in our outside of our house. As was said in his obituary, King could fix and build anything. He was an incredible craftsman and artist. We also have a few pieces of his Carnival glass he either gave us or sold to us.

I am so saddened by his passing. He has been taken way too soon. So very intelligent and such a gifted writer, I am going to miss his POSTS on FB and telling it like it is. Straight forward and honest. I miss you already King, I will miss you forever. I hope to see you again someday and go to dinner at each other's house and enjoy your and Barb's company like we used to.

*Go rest high on that mountain. You earned it. RIP brother.

“ We have fond memories of our visits and travels together. Barbara and King were gracious in their hospitality- driving us to see local sites, happily browsing antique and “junque” shops, and sharing good food and conversations. Such small things are now the big things that bring comfort in warm memories of happy times.

Sincerely, Patricia & Ivan Olenick, Rockport, Tx

*I met King before Barbara married King. He was an angel who came into her life at a time when she needed an angel in Houston. King was an interesting soul: a strong man in the moving business, a writer of sorts, loved words, so creative in many different ways. I have missed King since he leave Houston to go to Portland. I see that he touched many in Portland. He had that way about him. Barbara was so blessed that he came into her life. He will be missed by all. Love and Light

“ Although I hadn't seen my uncle in awhile, I will never forget him teaching me how to make the perfect baked potato when I was a kid. You must always put the cheese under the sour cream so that it melts. And to this day I think of him every time I have a baked potato. Nothing but good memories with Uncle King.

“ I first met King at my son and his daughter Courtney’s wedding. We become good friends over the ensuing years. We shared two wonderful little granddaughter’s, Evie and Ellie and shared times with them. I remember the first Halloween he moved down here to Ringgold. It was during the pandemic in October 2020. King and I sat out in front of the fire pit....socially distanced and freezing cold while Evie went trick or treating. We told jokes, and talked about life in general. I’m so sorry we didn’t have more personal time together, but I enjoyed what we had because King was always fun to be around. Sharp witted and always ready with his personal humor. I’m going to miss him greatly, and I extend my deepest condolences to my daughter in law Courtney, and the rest of the family.
