death is a mere shift in space and time we are all still together and yet we are all still apart we will all meet again beyond this place beyond the veil till then we live we engage we play we laugh we continue on with the comfort knowing it is not Goodbye but only till we meet again the heartache never goes but subsides when we lose such a love time will help-seconds will turn to minutes, minutes to hours, hours to days, days to weeks and so on as passage of time will ease in some way but our dear memories remain and will always be a saving Grace all reunite in that big place in the sky many many years from now till then the life no matter how short will never fade

“ Dearest McGill Family, I write to you today with sorrow of Maggie's passing, she was a joy to be friends with through mutual love of birdies and all animals. Her passion for her family friends and animals especially her beloved Sweet Pea and Mickey hold true even after she moves from this place. I truly wish you peace and may Maggie rest in heaven till we all meet again- with deepest condolences Diane Gilmour Bowie and rest of Maggie's extended animal lovers family all over the world May you never forget the warmth or light

“ Your passing comes as a shock to me, as I opened the paper this morning to see the sad news. Many years since we last saw each other, and had some great years working with you at Salem Carpet/Shaw Industries. You were a kind and caring person, and I'll always remember that.
