“Where do I even start ? When you have been neighbors for 50 years and your children grew up together, you are family and not just neighbors. There are so many memories that I can't even begin to name them all. Martha and I shared so many of the same interest. We would work outside together, helping each other with the latest project we had started; creating new flowerbeds or sharing our flowers and plants. we knew we could count on each other and call on each other.

One year before Christmas (years ago!)Martha saw where you could make a Christmas wreath out of chicken wire. So that is what we did! Mine ended up being pretty large and I still have it today! We both had a passion for little odd tables, and she surprised me one year with one that she had refinished. Every time I look at it, I am reminded of her .

Some of my fondest memories are of us sitting outside, sipping our tea or coffee and enjoying the birds singing , sharing about our kids, walking around our yards seeing what flower had bloomed, what was growing in the garden,or where we could dig another hole for a plant or tree. L O L.

Martha was always a beautiful woman and could light up a room with her smile. She will be greatly missed, but mostly she will be remembered with love. Love, Thelma
