“ I just found out. I still love the whole family. My love and prayers go out to each and every one of you

“ R.I.P, my favorite Aunt, of all your sisters. I will always cherish all the many times you and I hung out together, watching movies, playing cards, talking politics and just overall entertaining each other. Sharing Memories, good and bad. Sharing Hopes, dreams, heartaches, and regrets. You were one of the first, to teach me the importance of not judging others, especially family, even though we did or did not necessarily get back the same courtesy. I will never forget how you could light up the room with your smile and how it came so effortless, you could pick me up when I was down. I love you and all your children, Because it was you, who taught me to hold family, close to the 💕 Heart 💕; without percussion of any life circumstances, they were dealt. You will forevermore, hold a special place in my 💕 Heart 💕 and I look forward to the day I see you again, when my time comes.

Love, Tony R. Walker
