“ Reality is really setting in with me mom... it's been a few weeks since I've seen your face or heard your voice. Sometimes I miss you so much I can hardly breathe. I was blessed enough to spend a lot of time with you before you left us and I was blessed enough to cry on your shoulder about how much I was going to miss you and how much I loved you and how I didn't know how I'd live without you.. I was blessed enough to get your own advice on how to carry on after you crossed over to the other side. It was a blessing to have those talks and cry on your shoulder but it still don't make me miss you any less.. you were my best friend mom and the last 2 years I spent almost every day with you and now that you're gone I'm lost, I'm empty and my heart has a hole in it... the only peace I have is knowing you are no longer suffering and that you were saved and I will see you again on the other side... You gave up your life to give your kids a life and you gave your time and energy to so many other people because that's the heart you had.. I don't know how I'll ever find a new normal without you because you were my life the last few years... I love you and miss you more than any words I could ever describe!!! I'm just glad you're no longer suffering and I will see you on the other side... I miss you so much mom that I'm struggling to move forward but you made me promise to mourn and move on and I'm trying my best...even with all the times I told you how much I'd miss you I still wish I could say I love you one more time!!! To hear your voice and see your face one more time... I miss you so much mom!!’

“ I've shared before how much Nelda has meant to me and my whole family over the years. People with hearts of gold, like Nelda's, are few and far between. She has personally cared for several members of my family and ALWAYS made me feel like it wasn't a burden.

Nelda is proof that blood isn't what makes one a part of a family! She's been a sister to us, a caretaker to our mother and my brother as well. She is so much more to all that she came in contact with.

Nelda, you are so loved and will be missed by so many! I only hope that you knew that...

I thank you for all you've done for my family and I'm happy that at least you are no longer in pain.

With much love,

Jim A.

“ Nelda you help Barb sort of raise me.From the Time I was 15 you became My family. We had amazing times and down times as well but that's what Family does. You always treated me as if I was family and for that I was grateful. We all grew up and went separate ways That somehow in these days of late we have all gone full circle and sort of ended up back in the same areas anyway. We have our own families but at the same time we still had our family. All of us back in the same region Where it all Started. Now that you Have become an angel with no more pain on to watch Over your loved Ones. Just remember everyone here loves you and you are an amazing woman that you will be greatly missed And loved by all who had the pleasure of knowing you.... R.I.P SWEET LOVING LADY R.I.P.

“ Nelda Alexander, an amazing Lady, one who would give you the shirt off her back if you were in need. A strong powerful woman..you dare not mess with someone she loved...or there would be hell to pay. There are not enough words to describe the beautiful loving person she. I love and miss you sis You left us to fast an to soon. When I see a night star twinkle..I'll know it is you looking over all of us.

“ What can be said when nothing I can think of is enough? During her time here. She was a very loving, strong and caring person. Determined to stand up for what she felt was right. Family was very important to her. If I ever needed to call on her, I always knew I could depend on her to gladly help me in any way she could. I feel honored and thankful for the time we spent together and to have always been welcomed in her home and life. I not only lost an Aunt, I lost a friend. I love you Nelda Alexander and you will live on in my heart and mind.
