“ My love & prayers to my Mom, Pat, Kim & Joe, Chip & Kim, Andy, Katy, and all who knew & loved him. A few years after Norm married my mom, we were riding in the car back from lunch and he began talking about how, one night, he saw a waitress slip on the floor while he was having dinner with the cloggers. He went to save her and slid right behind her. He realized the waitress was laughing and he joined the laughter. Two crazy people laughing on the floor at Shoney's. I replied, Norm, that waitress was me! It happened before Norm dated mom, so we had no idea we shared that moment until that car ride home. He's been a good guy all the years I've known him and I'm happy we shared those moments and many more laughs. Norm, thank you for 30+ loving years with my mom. We love you & will miss you always.

“ there was never a better husband and friend in the world. He only knew how to love unconditionally. He took care of his family and he only broke one promise that he made to me. He promised he would never leave but on Monday, he had to break that promise but he is in a better place and no longer suffering. I will miss him forever.

“Hearing the news of Norm's passing breaks my heart, but looking at this picture makes me happy. It brings back memories of all the fun times playing tennis together, out of town trips, the holidays celebrated at Thomka's, and the tennis "Tribe" that meets on Sunday evenings for dinner, We were sad when you left for Georgia. Even though you could no longer join us, we often talked about how much we missed the Carters. Whenever I think of Norm, I will remember this happy photo of a wonderful man. I pray that Norman Wayne Carter will soon meet with Norman Wayne Kinder and have a great tennis match.

“Norman, Oh how we will miss your big smile and quiet strength and helpful spirit. Many of our dear classmates are now with you in Heaven. Since y'all got there first a little ahead of the ones still here on Earth, you can start planning the BEST REUNION EVER when we join you. In the meantime, enjoy your Everlasting Life with God, and know that you are loved and missed by many. To dear Sandy and family, we are so sorry for the loss and sadness you are feeling at this time. We are praying for your comfort and peace.
