“ What a privilege to call this great lady my aunt! Her home has always been warm and welcoming, a safe haven from this crazy world. Stepping onto her porch was like stepping into another place in time. I always knew that whatever she had was mine if I needed it, and she always loved me unconditionally, as if I were her own. Even though I wasn't able to visit as often as I would've liked, there was always a comfort in seeing her hand go up in a wave as I drove by, knowing she was there if I had the chance to stop by. I'll keep watching for her to wave. I've been doing it way too long. My comfort now, is knowing that when it's my time, she'll be watching for me, waving me on home! Until then.... I love you

“ I was so Blessed to call Sandra my sister. Not only a sister but a best friend. I will forever carry my love for her in my heart and cherish every memory we made together. You earned your wings today and this is sad for all of us but she is now resting for all eternity in the presence of our Lord. . I can only imagine what you are now seeing all the beauties that God has promise His children. I love sweet sister.

“ Not only would she give you the shirt off her back, but she would wash it, dry it, iron it, gift wrap it, and hand deliver it to you. Such a loving, giving, and sweet lady. Thank you for all the years of love and special times.
