“ I met Sue at Ringgold First Baptist church and she was such a sweet lady to me. She and I sat together in the same Bible study class on Sunday and during Wednesday night Bible study. I considered her to be a great friend. She gave me encouragement and great advice when I needed it. I visited her several times at NHC and enjoyed those times together just the same. I love her and will miss her, but we will meet again.

“ A remarkable woman and a lifelong learner. I am as her professor for several classes in the BSW program at Dalton State college and dean when she graduated. One of the best students that I ever taught with a big heart as well as a sharp intellect. She wanted to learn how to help people which she did.

I loved my friend Sue. I will miss her Christmas cards that she never failed to send. She was a very caring person.

I will always love and respect Sue. She was a master student and learner, putting to practice everything taught. She was fierce and funny and very candid! I miss her checking on me and praying for me. She can be with "her" Howard now in eternity. God bless her family. We love you, Sue.
