“ Ted was a great man and a thoughtful human being. When my father passed away two years ago, I looked up at the funeral home and there stood Ted. Already diagnosed with cancer and probably not feeling well himself but he made it a point to come by and support me during my time of sorrow. He had never even met my father but being a veteran also, he had a kinship with my father as well. There are people you meet in your life that you instantly know you like, bond well with and will be friends with for a lifetime. Ted was definitely one of those people for me. With us both being drummers for working bands in the area we instantly had a kinship and developed a friendship that did last a lifetime. I look forward to seeing him again one day in eternity and I know we will pick right up where we left of in this life as friends, brothers of the beat and in Christ.

My prayers go out to Ted family and his multitude of friends.

“ Ted was one of the finest men I've ever known. Honest, forthright, down to earth, genuinely nice and a great friend. In addition, he was a superb drummer with impeccable time who constantly inspired the musicians he worked with to be better. He was a devoted family man, relishing his role as father and grandfather. Ted adored my grandson Damian. He took Damian's musical aspirations seriously and encouraged and helped him a great deal as he began playing the drums. Ted's joy, zest for life, and willingness to do whatever it took to succeed are just a few reasons will be sorely missed. Rest in eternal peace until we meet again, my brother Ted.

“ I worked with Ted for several years as a photographer...
He and I had a wonderful relationship...
I considered him to be one of my dearest friends...
We loved talking about the passion of photography that we had in common...
This picture of me was taken by Ted little over a year ago...
We were watching the sunset that evening at my favorite place on earth...
Lookout Mountain GA...
That's the last time we actually got to spend some time together...
One day he sends me this picture he had made of me and he added wings...
He told me...
You have always been like an angel to me...
I felt the wings were appropriate...
I wept to think about how much he loved me and thought of me...
I spoke with him a couple of months ago by messenger...
I had no idea how sick he was....
He would never complain....
I sure did love Ted!
He was a very special man!
When I saw today that he had past away...
My heart just broke!
I will forever miss him amd love him!
