“ He is my dad. I love and miss him dearly. I wish he could of lived another 30 years but I know that is just selfish of me. He was in pain so God eased his suffering. He was the best man I knew. He had the kindest heart under that rough exterior. Me and my kids have a void in our hearts that will never be filled. My kids miss him so much and ask about him everyday. I am thankful that they got to meet him and will always know that their papaw loved them. Thank you to all that came to show your support or left your condolences. Your words of kindness and memories of him brighten my day.

“ My husband and I have so many memories that is hard to narrow down just one. But me and Tim especially had our ins and outs, but at the heart of t all, we was better than anyone ever knew. Although Tim would give me hell, He was always there for me. I turn to him for advice, help, when I needed an attitude adjustment..I just don't have anyone to go to now. You never know what some one really means to you until they are gone. I am surrounded by memories of him, like I have the wooden gliders and chairs he gave me...and other things. My husband and I both cried for Tim and we both loved Tim and we know he felt the same, because you just ain't there for people like he was for us. He had a huge caring heart, and he will be greatly missed. R.I.P. Tim..I'll be along to torture you soon
