“ This is a BIG HIT to my heart. My Aunt Carole. The first time I went anywhere without my mother was also the first time I ever flew in an airplane, and went to Cocoa Beach FL. I went with my cousin April, and Autumn. Autumn was just an infant on a heart monitor, and plenty more machines due to her being premature. April had her hands full with all the machines and bags she had to carry. But my mom Fran Mitchell made sure we got to the airport and made sure April got loaded first on Delta airlines. It was a spur of the moment invite for me but I got a flight on a different plane Kiwi... We both landed the same time. There was Aunt Caroles beautiful face standing there when we all unboarded the planes. I remember SO much from that trip. It was honestly one of the first times I truly got to spend time with Carole. I remember us laying out in the back yard (she had a pond that a baby alligator lived in, they told me. I didn't believe them) well, it was TRUE. He would come up and sunbath in her backyard. It was a summer I remembered and will always remember for the rest of my life... as I got older, I really enjoyed going by and just talking to her and hearing of past times of the family. Carole was a strong woman, She always was there for all her kids, grandkids and even the great grandkids. I know my momma was always so fond of her. She talked about how Carole taught her how to do her make up and different things.... I know she isn't hurting anymore.. this woman fought a long, long and very hard battle. I Love You Aunt Carole. I know your wings are big and beautiful just like you are!

I think she took all of the nieces to Cocoa Beach when she lived there. We went out and came back to a probably poisonous snake on the steps when we got out of the car and woke to gators at the back door most days. She was definitely loved her family so much and will be missed deeply.
